1. Based on the following feedback given by teachers the actions taken by the departments are:

Feedback by teachers:

1. The Department of Applied Economics started its journey in the current academic year (2022-2023). The Department of Applied Economics is now involved in developing the curriculum structure. Our aim is to train the students in the major areas of Economics to make them conversant with the principles as well as ready to take on challenging roles in society. Appropriate levels of weightage have been given to both core subjects to strengthen their conceptualizations as well as the ability and skill-enhancing courses to make the students industry ready. Hopefully, the curriculum structure will be approved by the Board of Studies in a couple of months.
2. Curriculum development is in progress
